

Finance for Non-Financials

---

Duration: 1 day

The aim of the course is to convey a basic understanding of finance to delegates who do not come from a financial or accounting background.

Finance is often called "the language of business". People who have a working knowledge of this language will be more aware of the financial impact of their day to day activities and will be better placed to take an active role in key business decisions.

Learning Outcomes

Delegates will become familiar with the following key areas of financial impact within the business:

- Reporting of results
- Financial management
- Financial statement analysis
- Cost/Volume/Profit analysis
- Budgeting and budgetary control

Pre Learning Requirements

---

There are no prerequisites for this course.
